

Les Copains Plans Events

"Les Copains", the French Club of Eisenhower, held its first meeting last week. Plans for coming events and activities were discussed.

The first event will be a trip to the University of California at Riverside to see French films. Any interested students may sign up with Miss Gilmetti. The cost will be $1.50. The trip is planned for Friday, November 19.

December 11 they are holding a film at the school. The film will be a comedy in French with English subtitles. A donation of $.50 will go to a Catholic School in Africa. Suckers and cokes will be sold.

Plans for caroling at Christmas, the Mardi Gras, the Winter Carnival and Scholarships were discussed at the meeting also.

Students Tour Chevy Plant

Forty seniors from Eisenhower's Industrial Art Department had the privilege last Thursday, of touring the Chevrolet Assembly Plant located in Van Nuys.

They left the school grounds at 8:30 a.m. and returned at 3:30 that afternoon.

Attending as sponsors were Mr. Clark, Industrial Arts teacher, and principal Mr. Keegan.

Azarettes Busy Raising Funds

Azarettes have been very busy lately earning money for the club treasury. Last Friday during lunch, the members were selling caramel apples. This may become a monthly project for raising funds.

Last Saturday they held a car wash at the Mobile Station and a bakesale at Alpha Beta Shopping Center. Both were deemed a big success.

Part of their earnings will go toward the construction of a float for the Football Homecoming. This is an annual club project.

There are many service projects and activities being planned for the future.

New members of Thespians are Cindy Reid, Mark Schwarz, Susie Walters, and Thea Bradley.

Halloween Plans For October 31st

Halloween is the evening of October 31. In its strictly religious aspect, this occasion is known as the vigil of Hallowmas or All Saints' Day, observed November 1 by the Roman Catholic and Anglican churches.

Students of folklore believe that the popular customs of Halloween exhibit traces of the Roman Harvest festival of Pomona and of Druidism. These influences are inferred from the use of nuts and apples as traditional Halloween foods and from the figures of witches, black cats and skeletons, commonly associated with the occasion.

One of the beliefs of pagan Ireland was that on this night the dead could return to earth as witches, goblins, ghosts, black cats, or in other weird forms. An old Scottish superstition which is still carried out today in Halloween decorations was that witches, who had sold their souls to the devils, left in their beds on Halloween night a stick made by magic to look like themselves.

Such fears and superstitions no longer exist, and Halloween has become all fun. The pranks are enjoyed by the younger ones who love to make believe they are witches or ghosts or goblins.

Juniors Order Class Rings

The annual sale of class rings was held last Thursday and the Juniors ordered their rings in their history classes. They paid deposits of five dollars as their orders were taken. A second order will be taken on November 2, 1965. The juniors who ordered rings will receive them sometime in March.

Eagerly awaiting the starting signal are Bill Voeller and Danny Walters in their customized roadsters. Supervising the count down is Bob Ivy.

Key Club Regains School Charter

The Key Club of Eisenhower High School is back on campus and ready to go. They're out to become the best school club and many sources say they have the potential. The club is sponsored by Eisenhower's Vice-Principal Joseph Cook, a member of the East Rialto Kiwanis men's club, working in connection with the school.

They have several school spirit events planned for the future, such as the tricycle race with the Junior Optimists. The Key Club plans to have many such events with their rival club to add to school support. Their leader and president is Dan Walters, with him the Key Club has a good chance to show their interest regarding school spirit, and erase the black markers against them from past years' members.

Two New Clubs In Formation

Are you interested or have a special ability in the field of science? Perhaps, you are interested in entering the teaching profession? If your interest lied in either of these fields and have previously been disappointed in the lack of campus clubs fulfilling these interests, this news is for you.

The Future Classroom Teachers Club is in the process of being organized. If you are interested, please indicate your interest by signing the list on Mrs. Robison's door (Counseling room E.) Mrs. Robison will be the club sponsor.

Mr. Robert Ebert will sponsor a Science Club for those of you who have a special interest in this field. You may sign up at the Vice Principal's Office.

Institute Day Plans Revealed

A prelude to Halloween was the seemingly haunted look of our campus, deserted by all but the teachers on Wednesday, October 27.

The Institute Day provided work sections for various subject matter areas in Rialto Unified School District. The day was divided into three general sessions and three groups of section meetings.

Thus, the students of Eisenhower High School received a welcome break in their daily routine.

5 Members Added To Thespian Roster

Sawyers Barn was the location for the Thespian Initiation Dinner on October 26. The club members had the initiates perform several dramatic stunts and other feats. Five new members were added to the Thespian roster. They are: Thea Bradley, Mike O'Leary, Cindy Reid, Mark Schwarz, and Susie Walters.

Thespians is a national honorary dramatic society. Members of Thespians earn points toward various degrees by working in drama, acting, tickets, publicity, costumes and stagecraft. To be eligible for Thespians, one must show an interest in dramatics and abide by the rules of the school for club participation. Club president is Marianne Pasquarelli.

Key Club Plans Tricycle Races

The Diplomats and the Key Club engaged in the first tricycle race in the history of Eisenhower High School! The president of the Key Club, Danny Walters, formally challenged the Diplomats' president, Bill Voeller, to the race.

During fourth period lunch on October 26, a number of members from both clubs assembled in the quad for the races. Both clubs had set a definite course and it was decided that there would be two races with three laps per race.

Each club provided about five students for each race. The participants brought their own tricycles, which could have almost any modifications, excluding engines.

The races started in front of the snack bar and from there the tricycles zoomed around the main gym and the girls' gym. The purpose of the race was to promote school spirit during the lunch periods.

Archers and Golfers Penetrate the Target

An arrow whizzes through the air and makes a hole in one. A golf ball penetrates through the center of a target. Ch-Kung. Who are these talented people who perform these remarkable feats? It's not Arnold Palmer wearing a kelly green suit and feathered cap, or Robin Hood complete with sport shirt and cleats.

These great sportsmen are members of the girls P.E. classes, playing golf and archery! These unfortunate (?) girls will be unable to dress in their gym clothes until December when the additions to the locker room are finished.

Spooky Affair Held After Game

Double, double, toil and trouble Did you go to the Halloween dance?

So you could have a night of prance?

Or did you stay home and soak in your bubbling tubble?

The spooky affair was held Friday, October 2, after the smashing game with San Gorgonio. The Gentiles played for the dance as spooks and goblins danced about the room. Boys wore ties and the girls wore witches' apparel.

Eisenhower students will be haunted by the memory for a long while.

IN MEMORY OF
BILL STIRNKORB

LETTER TO STUDENTS ASB President

I would like to extend my congratulations to the students of Eisenhower High School. I believe it is safe to say that interest in student affairs has never been so great at Eisenhower in the last three years.

Assemblies are loud at the right time, attendance at House Meetings is up and there are always visitors at Student Council meetings.

There is, however, a possible sour note in all this. The problem is our identity as a student body.

There is a general consensus that the House of Representatives needs more legislative power. It is my opinion, that the House must and will receive this power. This has not been possible or desirable in the past because there has not been sufficient interest.

There has been a deepening rift between the Student Council and the students and House. What no one seems to realize is that those 22 members of Student Council are students, too.

Why isn't it possible to have the Student Council and the House working together to make this school year one which includes activities that appeal to the majority; one which maintains the present interest in student government and affairs; and one in which the House of Representatives, the students, the Student Council, the Sophomore class, Junior class, and Senior class can strive to become a student body?

MIKE MASSENGILL,
ASB President.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

I think our theme this year, '66 a 'Go Go, makes a wonderful contribution to school spirit. We can make use of rock and roll music for our assemblies and our school band can play it at our athletic activities.

Our last pep assembly and football game was commended by Mr. Schumacher as rating high in school spirit. Our school is more fun to attend when we cheer-up the spirit.

School spirit is a necessity for any school to do well in sports, money-raising events, and over-all participation. We can take more pride in our school when it's fun to learn, by being a part of a spirited assembly of students.

As you can see the teams do better when the student body backs them with pep! And I think even some of our teachers are easier to get along with when we work together for student participation.

So let's go and get up that spirit for the remaining year and do a favor for your school and yourself.

Sincerely,
Y.D.

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor,

I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate and praise the EHS Band and various leadership groups for their outstanding performance and participation at our football games.

Few people realize the hard work that goes into preparing a program for halftime at a home football game. It requires rehearsal after rehearsal and the coordination among the flag twirlers, pom poms, band, mascots, and the drill team, who must be very good before the program is shown to the public. Much work is put in by many sponsors and students for the benefit of those attending games. So, Eagles, support your leadership groups and make them know they are really needed and appreciated!

M.S.

Talented Tutors Offered by CSF

Are your grades slipping??? Do you need plenty of help, and right away??? Well, don't panic! There's help on the way.

Last year, California Scholarship Federation offered its tutoring services, and this year the honors organization is doing it again. Members who are particularly versed in certain subjects will tutor those in need of help in that particular subject. Students are available for tutoring in all subjects.

If you are interested, please sign up on the sheet on Mrs. Robison's door (counseling room E), and one of the tutors will contact you.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR Eisenhower Student Behavior: Improved or Worsened?

Since coming to Eisenhower as a new student, I have witnessed food fights, and other such acts of childish behavior on the part of the student. To be sure, every school has its differences, disagreements, and problems. However, nowhere have I seen such an utter lack of respect, admiration, and discipline as I witnessed among a group of students.

As usual, incidents of this kind are sparked by a few, and as a result, the whole may be blamed. I am pleased that this incident does not reflect the attitude of the majority, but only a small minority.

Let me relate what you would have seen in the Quad area during the fourth lunch period: It seems that we had a guest on the school grounds, a young man in an Air Force uniform. He should have been given every courtesy befitting a man in the uniform of his country, instead, a few took it upon themselves to taunt and mimic him as he walked down one of the halls. Soon, he was very nearly running, as a moblike group of boys pursued him.

This little chase was soon brought to a halt by teachers on duty, but not soon enough, I'm afraid. Some had even spit upon this soldier and the uniform he wore.

As a student of Eisenhower High School, I am thoroughly ashamed to think that an incident like this should have ever happened. I am repulsed to think that students have no more respect for their country and the people who defend it.

It seems to be the common trend among people today to belittle patriotism and feel no pride in their country and for what it stands.

I think that it is about time that those who are responsible for this hoodlum behavior wake up and realize that their actions are neither cute, smart, or becoming to a student of Eisenhower High School, let alone a citizen of the United States.

Isn't it sad and somewhat ironic that the uniform some chose to spit on, is the same one that may well become blood-spattered; blood spattered while soldiers defend the rights of people like these who were involved in this incident?

Sincerely,
D.V.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

I would like to comment on the conduct of Eisenhower High School students:

There has been a definite change in the attitude of the students—a change for the better! When the school year first commenced students were rebellious and created a great deal of trouble, but now they're filled with enthusiasm and spirit. The turnout of kids at the games and the last pep assemblies shows this clearly.

What is the cause for change! It might be the action of the faculty or it might be that the students of "Ike" have discovered what it is to be good, participation students. Whatever it is, it makes school life and routine more enjoyable. I hope it continues.

Sincerely,
K.B.

Like To Talk? Join NFL Club

Wanted: New members!

The National Forensic League is looking for students interested in speech, debate or improving their poise in front of an audience. New members are required to have a minimum of twenty-five points to join. These points may be earned at various tournaments, which perspective members may enter.

One such tournament is the Novice Tournament, to be held tomorrow, October 30, at San Bernardino High School. Novice NFL members may compete in six rounds of two divisions; impromptu speaking, original oratory, humorous, or dramatic. Experienced students will act as judges of the event, in which various Southern California schools will participate.

Meetings are held every other Tuesday night at 7:00. November 9 will be the next meeting. Members generally discuss upcoming tournaments at NFL meetings.

NFL is fortunate in having earned a National Charter, as a limited number are granted. To retain their charter, NFL needs a certain number of members and degrees of honor.

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor,

Every year the seating problem gets worse in the school cafeteria, but this year the problem has become unbearable.

If you eat in the cafeteria, you either have to leave someone where you intend to sit or plan to stand for ten to fifteen minutes.

I really believe something should be done about this growing problem and soon, because it has already gotten out of hand.

D. D.

Letter to Editor

In this letter to the editors, I am writing about school spirit in general. School spirit is based on how much the kids want to support and become involved in various activities of their school.

A school is something that has to have a spirit to keep it going.

If the kids don't have spirit, it decreases the general morale of the entire school. They then complain about the lousy school they attend, and it's really no one else's fault but their own.

School spirit can be shown in so many minor ways that it may not seem important. But when put together, it combines as a whole mass of school spirit that is done in a group.

Ten people, no matter how hard they try, cannot give a school all of the spirit that it should have. These ten people will be successful only if they can influence more students.

Eisenhower has tremendous school spirit, but it is still far from its top capacity.

Sincerely,
D.T.

Anyone For A Job?

If it's baby sitting or lawn jobs you want, you've got to wait in line. However, a service is provided by the school for kids who want temporary jobs. It is on a first-come-first-serve basis. For considered opportunity, leave your name with Mr. Snyder and he will put your name on a list. There is also a bulletin board in the office.

Sophomores Elect Class Officers

Nominations for the new sophomore class officers were made on September 21, at an assembly in our gymnasium. The final elections were held the following week.

Those elected to hold the sophomore offices of 1965-66 are: Maureen Walsh, President; Bruce Smith, Vice President; Lynn Malone, Treasurer; Jeanie Hostetler, Secretary; Gary Bailey, Social Chairman.

Ike's Drill Team Boasts Forty Girls

The Drill Team this year is comprised of forty girls. Tryouts were held in the Spring one month after school started. The girls also learned the routines during this time.

Officers for this year are: Wendy Haggard, Colonel; Karla Hartley, Lt. Colonel in charge of Reserves; Kathy Gentry, Lt. Colonel in charge of records; Sharon Tingquist, Linda Phillips, Nancy Lang, Lieutenants. Nancy Elgan is head Lieutenant.

Halftime at the football games and basketball games the Drill Team will perform for the audience. There will also be parades during the months of November and December, and the Drill Team will take part in these.

Girls, to be in the Drill Team you must have a C average or better and no F's in citizenship.

Sophomores Net 145 Dollars on Cake Sale

The Sophomore Bake Sale netted 145 dollars. Cakes were sold at Sage's, Stater Brothers and downtown Rialto. The sales started early at nine o'clock in the morning and continued until four in the afternoon. Sophomore President Maureen Walsh predicts that this year's Sophomores will be the greatest yet!

Los Angeles Herald Schedules Workshop

The Los Angeles Herald-Examiner sponsors a student journalism program, known as the "Interscholastic Press Association." A unique aspect is the "High School Beat" page, which will feature news and sports features from a different area each week from students who become members.

Features of membership in the International Press Association include a workshop held annually during the first two weeks of August at Cal Poly, and scholarships. Another feature is the two seminars held twice yearly. The first was held Monday night, October 25, at Ganesha High School in Pomona. The "How To Do" program included explanations of the I.P.A. and various journalistic forms and techniques.

With Every Changing Tide

by LYNNE WALKER

The gentle roll of the sea,	in the sun,
The sparkling foam as the waves lap onto the shore,	And no one need tell you of winter in the air.
The quiet breeze bringing to water's edge the lonely call of the gulls,	The new-born beach basking in the warmth of the once hidden sun,
All of this and more is summer on the beach.	Multi-colored creatures crawling, creeping, peeping from winter hideouts,
The crisp, salty air so sharp you dare not inhale,	The intense blue of the sky reflected in the mirror of the surf
Glassy waves gaining in strength with each deep green swell,	As the glories of spring arise from darkness.
Tan-faded figures watching, only watching their sea with anticipation	No man is half so alive as the sea.
As fall rolls suddenly into winter.	With every changing tide, a mood is revealed;
A deserted beach, soggy with the slush of water-drenched sand,	No attempt is made to hide its thoughts from others.
Grey clouds and lightning filling the once peaceful sky,	Unpredictable as it may be, the sea is always there,
Monstrous breakers pounding where we once lay soaking	Ready to accept friend or foe Into its restless bosom.

Pom Poms pom; Flag Twirlers twirl, and the Drill Team drills all together during last week's pep assembly for the San Gorgonio game.

SPORTS REVIEW

by DAVE TIERNEY

The Eagle Varsity football team is presently flying high in the Ivy League race. They are at the moment undefeated and hold a three wins and no loss record in actual league play. Though the Eagles lost their first two non-league games, they have shown what a team that has a lot of spirit and drive can do.

The team started the season without one player weighing over two-hundred pounds which brought the odds quickly against them. These odds proved to be completely false as Mr. Smaha's boys have won three in a row, making up for weight with flashing speed and alertness. Also we have a great line-up of players, which helps tremendously.

All kinds of records in Eisenhower's brief history of football are being broken by the Eagle team this season. Steve Preston, for example, came up with the first field goal in the history of Eisenhower. Steve also is the league's second highest scorer so far in the season with sixteen of Eisenhower's twenty-two points. He also has a punting average of about 40 yards.

However, he is just one of the many outstanding players that Eisenhower holds this year. There is Bill McKinney in the passing department Halfback Dan Brown, Bill Bernier, Marty Slack, Mickey Ukeleja, John Schiller, injured Bob Gire, Mike Walek, only to mention a few. There are so many more excellent players on the team that if all their names were printed the list would be identical to the team roster. Some of these players you never hear about mainly because of the particular position that they play. But each of these men is equally important and necessary in the Eagle attack and have contributed much to make it a team effort. The Eagles, having a strong defensive team as well as offensive, have held two of their opposing teams scoreless by defeating Rubidoux and San Gorgonio by scores of 6-0 and 7-0 respectively. Their other victory was labored out at a 9-7 score with Corona.

The victories were not only a team effort but also a school

"Give me that ball, it's mine!" cries Sylvester Pinkel-witsel, No. 64, of Patton State as he charges through the ranks of Willifinster U.

"I 'wanna' hold your hand!" shouts what's his face (?), No. 21, of No Gotta U, as he garciously judo chops two members of the opposing team.

effort. The team support at the games has been very good but not up to the highest level that it could be. It is true that our "home" games are clear over at Chaffey and that it is difficult for some people to get there, but if the team that plays football for you out there on the field is out every day after school practicing to make the game a good and exciting one for you, try to be there to enjoy it. The Eagles would like to thank all the fans that have come out to see the games and given their support.

If the team continues to play the way they have, the Ivy League championship would not be a difficult goal.

SPORTS

E.H.S. vs. SPARTANS

Eagle quarterback Bill McKinney chalked up the only score of the game as Eisenhower extended its winning streak to three games to remain undefeated in Ivy League play. The touchdown came in the second quarter to break up a scoreless game against San Gorgonio last Friday night at Chaffey College.

Steve Preston advanced the ball 21 yards to the three yard line after Eisenhower received the punt on their own 41.

Then on the next play, McKinney broke off to the right and scored the lone touchdown. Steve Preston blasted the ball over the goalpost for the extra point.

The game almost had two touchdowns as the Spartans ran 74 yards to the end zone one minute after the Eagle score. The TD did not count, however, as illegal motion was called on the play.

The Eagle victory was not gotten through the air as none of the five attempted passes were completed, but rather by rushing. 207 yards were mounted up by the Eagle eleven, with fullback Bill Bernier and Dan Brown having picked up 46 yards and 58 yards respectively. Brown had ten carries while Bernier had nine. Brown ran the ball up to the 12 yard line. Preston attempted a field goal but just missed a little wide and to the right.

The Spartans also made a last ditch attempt to score. They had the ball on the Eagle 16, but time ran out before they got any closer.

Early in the game, Eisenhower's Mickey Ukleja intercepted a Spartan pass.

RUBIDOUX vs. EAGLES

Eisenhower shut out the Falcons who were hosting at Rubidoux, by a score of six to nothing. The Eagles won their second in a row and remained unbeaten in the Ivy League. Steve Preston scored the game's only touchdown and score upping his scoring total to 15, all of Eisenhower's points in their first two league games. Preston is the league's second highest scorer at the present.

The score came with 5:18 remaining in the half as Preston crossed over from the five after a pass from quarterback Bill McKinney to halfback Dan Brown, which was good for 21 yards. The TD climaxed a 65 yard drive in nine plays for the Eagles.

Later in the game, McKinney snatched a Falcon pass and ran 60 for what appeared to be another touchdown. It was unfortunately nullified by an Eagle penalty.

Two main threatening attempts to score by Rubidoux were halted by the Eisenhower defensive men.

The first came in the third quarter on the second half kickoff when the Falcons grabbed a fumble on the Eagle 18, but they could not take advantage of the situation. The second attempt was when the Falcons were in possession on the 35 yard line of the Eagles with three minutes left to play in the game. This was quickly shut down by the recovery of a fumble by Eisenhower's Mike Walek.
