SIX IN LEAGUE

STEVE PRESTON

Six all-Ivy League players were chosen from the Eisenhower Varsity Football Team. They are Steve Preston, Jim Parck, Chris Grenfell, Arnie McCoy, Jim McDonald and Bill McKinney. Steve Preston was chosen the best all-around player in the Ivy League.

Eisenhower's team boasted a record of eight wins and one loss, which placed them second in the Ivy League. San Geronio's team was first in the Ivy League, and usually only the first place teams in each League are permitted to enter the CIF finals, however due to a clause in the rules for entering CIF, Eisenhower was able to squeak under the wire and become eligible to participate in the CIF playoffs.

The Staff of the Eagle's Eye would like to congratulate all of the players on all of the football teams for their efforts in making Eisenhower High School successful in sports this season.

In order for a school to have good football teams it is necessary that the players on the team devote much time and energy and even a certain amount of personal sacrifice in order for the team to play at its maximum. A special note of thanks to those who devoted so much of themselves to the furtherance of the team.

Letter to Editor:

Where Recognition is Due

Throughout the years, sports activities have undoubtedly received more recognition than any other activity on a school campus. Football has received more recognition than all other sports combined.

For the first three months of the school year, the football players devote a good portion of their time toward practice, after school, on weekends, and holidays.

Now, we shall discuss an organization which is deprived of the recognition which is due. This organization is the band. The band not only plays concerts, but also performs at parades, half-time shows, music festivals, and marching festivals. The band practices throughout the years, including after school, during school, holidays and weekends, not just three months out of the year!

During football season the band is present at all games, and performs at halftime at all home games. After football season, the parades begin. The band goes to parades in their own city as well as parading in other cities. Then comes concert season when the band enters music festivals and plays a concert not only for the parents, but for the whole student body as well.

The band is an organization that devotes a great deal of time not only for the honor of the school, but for their community as well.

U.S. TEEN WEAPON IN DEMOCRACY

By Linda Brooks

Many people degrade the teenager because they believe that he is a vengeful child who can only handle his problems by forcing his opinion on others by employing such methods as protests and delinquency. Yet, it is the American teen who holds in his grasp, the welfare of the entire allied society. He plays the main role in supporting our position as a democracy, against the threats in Viet Nam. Half or more of the American troops in the Viet Nam area are under age 20. They are fighting along side the teens of the South Vietnamese, some of whom are as young as 13. Most of them do not want to fight, but they are desperately doing the best they know how to defend the ideals they believe are necessary in protecting the life we are all now enjoying in America. These teens, however, have had to grow up quickly and now the restrictions imposed on the teens in the United States do not all seem to apply to them anymore. They do not see why their service drivers license will not be legal for regular civilian driving. But, most of all, they want to vote.

Letter to Editor: Only In Special Cases

Apparently, Gerald Ackley did not read the last paragraph of my editorial entitled "Lazy, Maybe?" for he has assumed I am against all welfare no matter what the circumstances. My last paragraph stated, "Welfare has a place in our society, but only for those who are in desperate need between jobs. . ." The situations Mr. Ackley has presented can be described as desperate, I believe. My editorial was not aimed at the people who through no fault of their own are on welfare. Instead it was aimed at those persons who could be working but are not, and expect to receive aid they do not deserve. I hope this note has clarified by position.

Behind the Scenes

by Gerald Ackley

In the House of Representatives, most of the meeting was dedicated to setting forth procedure rules.

The most important of these, the establishment of a quorum, will give the House a decided advantage over the Student Council.

It was also decided that "Robert's Rules of Order" will not necessarily be followed. It was the general feeling that this act would give the House more freedom in its operating procedures.

In the Student Council, a committee was formed to set down standard procedures in the rental of car wash materials. As it now stands, any club wishing to have a car wash must rent the implements from the Council.

It was also motioned that the present homecoming trophy be traded in. As well as the present winner, the names of the past recipients will also be inscribed on the new trophy. The name of the trophy will read "Eisenhower High School, Outstanding Homecoming Float Award."

The Pom Pom and flag girls basketball project was also discussed. It was suggested that white stools be purchased for the girls to sit on while they were not performing. It was felt that this would raise spirit. They also suggested that they could perform some kind of hand movements.

Miscellaneous news included:

A statement from the Junior Class saying that they would sell candy canes and mistletoe during the week before Christmas.

The Annual staff reported selling $200 in advertisements.

The Junior Class also noted that they made $23 in flower sales for Veterans Day. This was a service to the veteran's organization.

Much Said But Little Action

Much is being said about senior privileges but little is being done.

Seniors at Eisenhower have no more rights than Sophomores or Juniors save one, leaving assemblies early. Even this privilege is abused by the other members of the student body. What can be done to remedy this situation?

One is to form a committee composed of Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, and members of the faculty. The purpose of this committee would be to create more privileges for seniors and to impress on the remainder of the student body a certain kind of class pride and respect for Seniors. The committee must make them realize that one day they will be Seniors and will want to be shown respect and given privileges, also.

Another would be to have a committee in the House of Representatives take suggestions from the student body, review each one, and then have the entire student body vote on them.

Dave Guillen

Letter to Editor:

Let's Wake Up

Behind every good team, there is a strong student body. There is also leadership to add spirit and a drill unit. But there is also one other unit that everyone seems to forget; a band. The band is perhaps one of the hardest working groups on campus, but it doesn't receive the respect it should have.

The band plays at assemblies, adds to half time, gives concerts and adds a lot of spirit. It takes many hours of practice, rehearse and create the kind of sound and band a school can be proud of. We have got that kind of band, that kind of director, but we do not have the student body.

When a band student puts on his band uniform, he is representing our school. And he is proud to represent our school, but when he is teased and ridiculed, he stops and wonders just what he is proud of.

Every member in our band works to give you the student body of Eisenhower High School, a unit to be proud of.

Music is a gift. It is a talent. We have many very talented students in this school. Students that want to give their gifts.

Let's wake up, Eisenhower Student Body. Let's wake up and give the band the honors it deserves. The director can't do it, the principal can't do it, but a strong student body can.

Kathy Heney

Is High School Contributing to Crime?

For many students, their high school years are their last contact with education. And I feel that it is the school's duty to recognize these students, and give them special attention.

One way the school could help these people is to arrange special classes for them. Classes that would help them prepare for a job. Thus the burden of the Job Corps upon the government would probably be lessened, welfare would decrease slightly, and the crime rate of young adults would drop considerably. Take a class such as wood shop. It's highly possible that most of the students in such a class never intend to go on to college. They take a class like this merely to fill their schedule, thus getting enough credits to graduate.

This class is really a waste of time. Now if the school offered in its place a class that trained the students in cabinet making, or wood working, they might get a better job easier when they graduate. Another fill is in office clerk, which is nothing but busy work. I believe the school should change the class to office preparation work, which would help those students involved, greatly.

Superior Rating To "Ike's Drill Team!"

On Saturday, November 12, Ike's Marching Band and Drill Team competed in the Hawthorne Band Review with approximately 20 other high schools.

The parade was composed entirely of Bands and Drill Teams. Each school competed against each other in special classes. There were a total of four classes in all; class "A" — which Ike was in — was composed of high schools with the least number of members in the band and drill. Class "AA" was made up of Bands that were a little bit bigger. Class "B" contained bands bigger than class "AA" and Class "C" had the largest number of members.

Eisenhower's drill team was given superior ratings (the highest) on uniformity, neatness, obliques (marching at 1-quarter angles,) step-offs (being in step) and uniforms which were green dresses with white aprons.

Each drill team was required to present a long routine. Eisenhower has not attended a competition of this sort for several years, as a result they were not aware of the fact that they were to have one continuous routine, and were graded low because of the shortness of their routine. The drill team performed their routine to the music of "Invadargil", played by the band. It lasted approximately three minutes.

When asked of the attendance of the drill team at the competition Karla Hartley, Drill Team Colonel replied, "It gave us experience. Next time we will know more about what is expected of us. Next time we will do better."

After the parade Ken Smith, and Thayer Roarbough, drum major and Karla went to the Hawthorne Football stadium. All the drum majors and drill team Colonels of the day met down on the field for the awarding of trophies. Eisenhower's drill team received a large silver-colored trophy for participation.

POMPONS, ANYONE?

Six Lovelies Promote EHS Spirit

Who are those six vivacious girls with the pom-poms? They're IKE's pompon girls for 1966-67. These girls perform during school pep assemblies, and at our football games, parades, etc. The girls practice during Leadership P.E., as well as after school.

Becky Mason, head, is a 5'2" senior. This is her second year as a pom-pom girl and she really enjoys it. She is also interested in reading, music, diving, and travel.

One may see this brown-eyed brunette going to anyone of the following classes: senior problems, English, bookkeeping, shorthand, typing, or Leadership P.E. When asked what her favorite subject is, she said, "I like them all."

Becky says her pet peeve is: "People who start food fights in the Cafeteria."

Her comment on the spirit this year was, "It has its ups and downs, but on the whole it's pretty good. It was a good football season as far as spirit goes. I hope it continues through basketball."

As six pretty girls unload from leadership bus, you can't help but notice Karen Flanders. She is 5'4", has brown hair, and hazel eyes. Karen is co-head of pom-poms and in her first year.

Karen was born June 9, 1949, and is a 17-year-old senior. Her classes are shorthand, senior problems, psychology, English, and Leadership P.E., among which English is her favorite.

Karen's main dislike is "our green uniforms." Her favorite food is pineapple pizza and her favorite color is yellow.

When asked what she thought about the school spirit this year, Karen commented: "It's pretty good but we could do a lot better." As for embarrassing moments, Karen has one every time she makes a mistake in a routine.

In closing, Karen said, "Eisenhower is the greatest!"

Pamela Sue Chaney (Pam) is also a senior. This is her first year in pom-poms.

Pam is taking the following classes this year: shorthand, transcription, business, English, senior problems, financial secretary, and Leadership P.E. Out of all these subjects, she likes shorthand the best.

This was also found out about Pam: She likes pizza, and yellow seems to be her favorite color. She is 5'2", brown eyes, and dark blond hair. She won't admit to any embarrassing moments she has had. She is also interested in cooking and sewing.

When asked for her opinion of the spirit this year, Pam said, "It's pretty good, but a lot of times at the games no one will yell except a few people and it doesn't help the team."

Around campus is seen a 5'5" blue-eyed blond known as Ginger Watkins. Ginger is a member of pom-poms for the first time.

Some interesting information gained about Ginger is that she was born October 24, 1949, and is a 17-year-old senior. Her classes are senior problems, French, study hall, English and Leadership P.E. Her main interests are Italians. Her main dislike is making pom-poms.

As to school spirit, Ginger responded, "Although the spirit was low at the beginning of the year, it has gradually built up to the point where I believe it exceeds the preceding years."

Ginger's favorite food is pizza, and her favorite color is green.

Going from class to class, you may see Mary Ann Spinks. The 5'1" blue-eyed blond is in her first year of pompons.

Mary Ann is a 17-year-old senior. Her classes are student council, senior problems, English, biology, French IV and Leadership gym. Her favorite food is Chinese food and her favorite colors are blue and green.

Mary Ann also writes "From the Eagle's Nest" which appears in the Sun-Telegram. She also works with Mr. Wohlers on public relations.

In closing, Mary Ann had this to say about school spirit: "I think it's great."

Whether with a guitar in her hand or on a horse, Ellen Kemble is a girl you'd notice. Ellen is 5'3½", has green eyes and brown hair. Ellen is in her first year of pompons. Ellen is a 17-year-old senior. Her classes are Bookkeeping, English, typing, and Leadership gym. Ellen said she enjoys all her classes although, "I can hardly wait to go to college next year."

Polynesian Adventure

Through the youth of all nations, laughter, music and dance can force a link in the friendship chain that is stronger than any difference in civilizations, races or religions.

Polynesia, which means "many islands", was the program presented on November 30, at an assembly for the student body, concerns three of the islands or island groups of the South Pacific area. The island of Tahiti, which is one of the Society Islands, the group of islands which make up Samoa, those islands which make up our fiftieth state, the islands of Hawaii.

What has lured mankind to this part of the world? The people. The people of Polynesia have much in common and their cultural heritage runs back through the same lines of ancestry to the people of Asia.

The natural setting is one of admittedly indescribable beauty and grandeur. Their language expresses their warmth, kindness, and their tender passion for life.

Rhythm and dancing play very important roles in the music of all Polynesia. The old musical tradition will always be an integral part of these island people. You will find without a doubt an unique musical flavor, that expresses the rich time honored traditions and experience of only the peoples of Polynesia.

DANA VOGAN AND EVA RUDDLE are stacking high the results of the annual Soboban food drive. The canned food was later put into baskets and given to the needy families in this area. Their drive was a canful success. Good work, Sobobans!

BRINGS BACK WINNERS

By Anne Sanfacon

Competing against fifty other students, Miss Lynda Gain captured second place at the annual Speech Tournament held November 19, at Coachella.

Entered in the extemporaneous category, Lynda's topics were: "LBJ's Travels and Views in Viet Nam," "U.S. and Its Breaking Point," and "Can We Negotiate with Russia?"

Lynda was accompanied by Patti Massengil. About twelve other schools were also represented.

When asked to comment on the tournament, Lynda stated, "It was well organized. Topics were tricky, but all and all it was a good tournament."

Ike Runs Cross Country Finals

By Dave Tierney

All eight schools in the Ivy League sent representatives to the Cross Country semi-finals which were hosted by Colton. Eisenhower took two seconds and a third in the three races. As was expected. Colton took all three first places for Varsity, Junior Varsity and Sophomore divisions.

The Ike Varsity with eighty points and an overall time of 56:11 came in second to Colton who collected 27 points and a time of 53:21. Roger Thompson placed eighth with a time of 10:49 and Richard Ponce took eleventh at 11:01. There were about 50 runners in each race except the Sophomore which only had 35 running. Following Ponce were Lester Byington, 16th with 11:15, Scott McAllister, 22nd, 11:31, Paul Bracamonte, 23rd with 11:35, Brad Liston, 37th, 11:51, and Stephen Wilhite, 39th, 11:54.

In the JV race, Ike was again second to Colton, and collected 71 points and an overall time of 60:48 while Colton had 26 points and a time of 58:03. Coming in sixth for Eisenhower was Dave Mavity with a time of 11:44, followed by Dan Matern, 10th, 12:01, Jeff Altimus, 14th, 12:12, Carl Standifer, 16th, 12:15, Joe Leischmann, 26th, 12:36, Steve Maxson, 29th, 12:46, and Jim Morgan, 31st, 12:50.

The sophomores came in third, to be beaten by Colton and Norte Vista. The final score was Colton 29 Norte Vista 55 and Eisenhower 84. The top runners were Larry Alejandre who placed fifth with a time of 11:31. Frank Adams who placed seventh with 11:32. Rex Beck nineteenth with 12:34, Mel Reeves twentieth with 12:39 and Kevin Haney twenty-third. The sophomores must be congratulated on a fine season and considering the fact that they ran with only five runners in all the meets they did an exceptional job.

The finals were held on Tuesday of last week at the Mount Sac Course. We sent our top seven runners to compete with the best in the league. As were the semi-finals, the finals

In the earlier part of the game, McKinney and the Eagles rolled down the field for a touchdown, which was set up by a fifteen yard run by McKinney.

Richard Black picked up a Lawndale fumble on the first play after the kickoff. Then it was a 33 yard pass to Preston and later in the game a throw to Henningsen to give the Eagles a first down on the five yard line. Preston went through for the TD which gave us a 12-0 lead with 9:22 remaining in the half.

From this point on Lawndale had control until late in the final quarter, when on a fourth down we made a desperate attempt for the first down, but only gained two yards which gave Lawndale possession. Then Lawndale came back with a touchdown and PAT for a final score of 26-15. Congratulations EAGLES on a fine year.

The Eagles cinched second place in the Ivy League by rolling over the Falcons of Rubidoux by a score of 37-7 which meant at the time, possible invitation to the CIF. This later proved to be true.

McCoy and Preston both went over for touchdowns and later Bob Rauch scored another, led by Bill McKinney, the Eagles' quarterback.

It wasn't long into the second quarter before we were out in front, with Preston making the TD. The conversion by Grenfell made it 7-0.

Another six minutes hadn't gone by before we were in the end zone, from a run by McCoy.

McKinney hit Rauch on a pass play to make the score 19-7 by the end of the third quarter. Preston ran over for the next touchdown, then on a 56 yard screen pass to McCoy in the final 18 seconds of play to make the final score 33-7.
