

Thai's AFS'er Joins EHS Student Body

"Pride of the Eagles!"

THE THEME FOR THIS YEAR is "Pride of the Eagles". As the eagle represents pride so should we, the students of Eisenhower High School. Proud because we are a part of a vast educational and social endeavor, and we are combining our efforts to improve not only that which is immediately around us, but to make a better world in which to live. Better because we had a part in shaping the future so that those who followed us would know that we had pride in those things for which we stood.

Wohlers Appointed

Following 14 years of teaching experience, Mr. Walter Wohlers has become the assistant principal at Eisenhower high school for this year.

Only the last six years of Wohlers' accumulated teaching have been at Eisenhower, where he was also head of the mathematics department. The other years he spent teaching in Arizona and California.

For five years in Nebraska Wohlers acted as superintendent of a Nebraska school district.

He earned his AB degree at Wesleyan University in Lincoln Nebraska, and he holds two masters degrees. One in School Administration from the University of Nebraska, also in Lincoln and the other, a Masters in Education from the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque.

He has attended five summer National Science Foundation Math Institutes. Wohlers is a life member of the National Education Association, member of California Teachers Association, State Council and State Youth Activity and Welfare Committee. He has also been involved in church activities. He was chairman of the Parish Education Committee, and a board member of the nursery school, both at Church of the Cross.

Along with being a full time teacher, he also coached football on various school teams for the past 12 years. Mr. Wohlers' main responsibility as assistant principal will be concerned with student activities.

Mr. Wohlers has two children, Susan, 21, and a son, Robert, 14.

WALT WOHLERS

REPRESENTATIVES TELL OF SUMMER WEEK AT STATE

Bill McKinney and Dave Blair, two Eisenhower seniors, shared the honor of attending Boys State in the summer, June 8-25. Boys State is a place where outstanding juniors in California go to Sacramento to learn about government.

One of the main accomplishments of Boys State was setting up a parallel to the state government of California. City, county, and state elections were held. Both Bill and Dave were elected chief of police in their respective cities. For the state elections political rallies and demonstrations were held. Bill led a demonstration against Dave and his police force, charging them with police brutality. The demonstration turned into a riot and shaving cream and water balloons were used!

Both boys participated in sports. Bill led his football team to the finals and Dave's relay team took first place.

To top the week off the boys were able to go to the capitol and pass superficial laws in the senate. Both Dave and Bill agree that "Boys state is a great experience that all boys should have."

"It's neat," was the reply of Eva Ruddle, this year's Eisenhower representative to Girls State. Eva, a senior was chosen to go to Girl's State, which is held every summer at the University of Davis.

Girls State is an imaginary state, and is run by certain elected and appointed officials, just like any state in the U.S. Here the girls can form opinions and ideas and see first-hand how a state government

"Good in everything," and "the cause of happiness," spells Mongkone Rayanakorn. This year's foreign exchange student is a native of Thailand's second largest city, Chiangmai.

With 165 Thai AFS'ers, Mongkone arrived in the United States on August 12th and spent two days touring New Cork before leaving for California. The Empire State Building and the UN Building, which Mongkone commented on as being "too big," were some of the highlights of his trip.

After a five day bus excursion across the United States and a layover in Denver, Colorado, Mongkone finally arrived in Rialto and met his American family, the McKinleys.

In Thailand, Mongkone attended the Prince Royal's College (protestant missionary school) 5 days a week from 8:00 to 3:30 with a one and one-half hour break for lunch. Last year he was required to take such classes as physics, chemistry, biology, algebra, trigonometry, English, English literature, general history, Thai history, art, Thai language and Thai literature. Each class was held on a specific day. Colleges in Thailand would be called high schools here just a college here is a university there.

A Thai student would find it difficult to take a day off from school unless he is sick. All students are required to wear uniforms with numbers on the shirt. Boys must wear shorts and white shirts, and the girls, skirts and blouses. If a Thai student is seen making trouble his number is copied down and turned in to the school.

Mongkone who was a member of his school's ping-pong team, also enjoys playing badminton. Larb, a Thai meat dish is getting competition from the American hamburger as Mongkone's favorite food.

Besides his father, a government official, and mother, an elementary school teacher, Mongkone has three brothers, a little sister in the eighth grade, and Darn and Dum, his two dogs.

When Mongkone leaves the United States he plans to spend two years at a Thai University studying agriculture. He would like to finish his education here, and then return to Thailand and work for the government in the Department of Agriculture.

Mongkone likes Eisenhower very much and finds only one difference between U.S. teenagers and Thai teenagers, American teens are "more friendly."

There was a reception for Mongkone at the McKinley home at 6761 N. Acacia on Sunday, Sept. 18, from 3:00 to 5:00.

MONGKONE RAYANAKORN—Thai exchange student for 1966-67.

is run. She was elected to many offices, among them were, town crier, county clerk and city music commissioner. She ran for Lt. Governor, but was defeated.

All together there were 564 girls attending Girl's State this year and they came from all over the state. Every day there were classes offered that would be of benefit to the girls so that when they returned to their own schools each would have a better idea of how to improve not only her school government, but also how they could improve state and national government.

The girls stayed in dorms on the campus grounds and each floor was divided into certain cities and several floors into certain counties. Four counties made up the state of "Girl's State." All girls had to register to vote in elections. There were laws set down and violations of these laws were in fines of 1 to 5 cents.

However, along with much work, there was also time for a Girl's State Choir. There was a recreation time where such sports as volleyball, games, swimming and even a gargling contest were offered.

Eva said that the three most outstanding things about Girl's State were "making new friends, renewing faith in country and realizing what freedom did mean to her."

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE:

Ike Takes First Step

As I write this message school has been underway for three days. This has been the smoothest opening of school that I have witnessed in my six years at Eisenhower. A lot of hard work and time was spent by our library staff in connection with pre-registration but their efforts have made school begin very smoothly. This marks the first year that Eisenhower has been a high school in the true sense of the word. A different atmosphere is evidenced on the campus. We no longer have to look out in the quad and see Jr. High age youngsters playing touch football at lunch. However, the removal of our junior high student body will not in itself make us a high school. A high school is really a high school when the student body takes pride in its school and in its accomplishments. This pride or spirit cannot be legislated or mandated. It comes from a feeling of pride that is generated by an appreciation that this school is concerned with the welfare of all of its students. We are providing the finest program our facilities will allow us to provide. From the first indication we have taken the first step to the goal of "PRIDE OF THE EAGLES."

— Albert Keegan

Praise Extended from A. S. B. Pres.

I would like to congratulate each member of the student body for the fine conduct in last Thursday's assemblies. With this type of cooperation I am sure that many more assemblies will be ours in the future. This is just one of the many things in store for us in 1967. "The Pride of the Eagles." We have unlimited resources from which to draw. This year affords such advantages as joint faculty-student committees, a new assistant principal in charge of student activities, and, most important, a large student body unbounded in potential spirit and drive. Once again, I would like to extend praise to you for a terrific beginning to a great year. Keep pulling!

Dave Bailey
ASB President

Seniors Rated No. 1

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome the Senior Class of '67 back to EHS for our final year of high school. I had the privilege to serve as last year's Jr. Class president. Through that experience it became quite evident, to me, that our class is one of many talents and with an excellent ability to work together. We will have to use our talents in the coming year in order to be the success we were last year. The first assembly was an excellent beginning to what I feel will be Eisenhower's greatest year. The teachers all agree that the Senior assembly was the best, which isn't surprising. So, let's keep our No. 1 rating that we had last year as Juniors. Remember, Seniors are No. 1.

Love and Kisses
Bill McKinny
Senior Class President

"Staff Welcome"

The 1967 Eagle's Eye staff would like to extend a welcome to all Eisenhower High School students, faculty and administration. We hope especially that the new students and teachers will enjoy this year at Eisenhower. We trust that the new students this year at "Ike," may profit educationally along with the experience of making new friends among the faculty and students. Since this is the first year that Eisenhower has been strictly a high school, it is hoped that all may strive to make this the best and most memorable year that Eisenhower has ever had. Our theme for this year is "PRIDE OF THE EAGLES." The EAGLE'S EYE will do its part in promoting and supplementing "PRIDE OF THE EAGLES." We welcome your letters, comments and suggestions. Your views and opinions are important and essential to the staff and school. We wish you all an outstanding year.
Sincerely,
1966-1967 Eagle's Eye Staff.

EDITORIAL:

"Cheating: A Necessary Evil"

"Do I cheat on school tests? . . . Yes. It's not only the thing to do, it's necessary to get ahead. I think you have to be a very strong person not to cheat: schools make it very hard not to. . . Besides, students aren't the only ones who cheat at school. Teachers cheat too — by playing favorites, padding grades, giving easy true-false quizzes, and by not preparing for classes." According to a recent Youth Survey taken by LOOK, 96 per cent of all high school students openly admit that they cheat on school exams. Sixty-five per cent go even further by bluntly stating that "teachers cheat, too." Why do most high school students cheat on tests? . . . Many educators lack faith in their own ability to teach. Such instructors tend to place extreme emphasis on heavy testing, believing that only the ever-present threat of an exam can motivate their students to learn. Unjustly, these teachers lack faith in the ability of their students to learn. High school students are keenly intelligent. Ninety-six per cent prove it by contriving clever ways with which to escape the poorly designed labyrinth of heavy testing. Instructors who rely primarily on exams do not have to concern themselves with the process of learning. They can simply assign lessons, and, shortly thereafter, give tests on the assigned material, thus giving a test merely for the sake of giving a grade. This is not a comprehensive form of teaching. With its absurd emphasis on tests and insane pressure for grades, today's educational situation is not so much an invitation to learn as it is to cheat. "Just as heavy testing is a symptom of what is wrong with our schools, cheating is a symptom of what is wrong with heavy testing." Educationally, students are correct in cheating. Morally, however, they are wrong. By successfully cheating on high school exams, they conclusively prove that they have merit in dealing with a poorly constructed learning entourage and consequently deserve admittance into a "tough assign-and-test college where they can continue to do the same." Something must be done to rectify the aforementioned plight. And it must be done soon. Discontent with this educational problem is growing rapidly. When it generally comes to the forefront, the entire academic world may be in for many distressful days.

Eisenhower to Have Pool

During the latter part of last year, Rialto voters were asked to vote on a proposed bond issue to raise sufficient funds for the construction of a swimming pool on Eisenhower's campus. This proposal, however, was defeated. At this time, it appears that a pool and/or stadium may be built due to a recently applied tax that allows for a rate of 10 cents per $1,000. Presently, the city is collecting only 3 cents on the aforementioned tax. "This increase," states Dr. James R. Duran, Assistant Superintendent of the Rialto Unified School District, "will allow for a pool within the next five years."

Dr. Duran continued, "The School Board will meet after two years to decide whether the money will be raised in what would be considered a reasonable amount of time." He further stated that this tax increase would net approximately thirty-five to forty thousand dollars the first year. While this is not enough for either one of the projects, it is believed that an accumulation over a period of years might eventually make both projects feasible.

What's New in May

Even though this is the month of September, there's a lot going on in May, the May Company, that is!

As most of you know, the May Company opened September 6th, in the Inland Shopping Center. It's really a fabulous place to shop anytime or for any occasion.

One thing which seems to be a small, confining object in the treacherous life of a student is homework! And you ask, "When could I ever get down there to shop?" For this reason the store hours are set from 10:00 a.m. to 9:30 p.m., Mondays through Saturday.

For the "in" girls, with the new "mod" look, the Teen Jr. fashions is "in" demand with the latest styles and fashions. And look, "Barrton Hall" section is for the "guys" with the "sharp" your goal fashion wise).

Eisenhower Welcomes Ten New Teachers

Eisenhower is expanding in many ways this year. First off, ten new teachers have been added to our staff.

Eisenhower Eagles would like to welcome them by making everyone familiar to all the student body.

In the English department you will find the new personalities of Mr. Bushong, Mr. Patterson, and Mr. Sexton. Also Mr. Peskin, who teaches speech. Besides Mr. Peskin having dual subjects, Mrs. Singh teaches both English and German.

Mr. Bushong was born in Flint, Michigan, January 11, 1941. He attended Olivet College from 1959 to 1963, graduating from that institution in June of 1963. From June of 1964 to 1965 Mr. Bushong attended Eastern Michigan University, earning his MA degree in 1965.

When asked what his first impression of Eisenhower was he replied, "Impressed by athletic standings."

Mr. Peskin conducts classes in English and speech. Being a 1960 graduate of Queens University of New York, Mr. Peskin received his BA in speech. The emphasis of his education was on broadcasting travel all over the United States. He returned once more to Queens College where he completed his teaching requirements. For one school year Mr. Peskin taught speech in Spring Valley, New York. In 1963 he married and returned to California in January of '64. For two and a half years he taught at Lynwood. When asked of his impression of "Ike," he replied, "Very favorable."

Mr. Peterson, a native of Washington, will teach English this year at Ike. Mr. Peterson was educated at the University of Redlands and California State. He has taught for seven years. The first year at Snohomish High in Washington, the next two at Golden Valley Jr. High and then on to Rialto Jr. High for three years. A warm welcoming by the students has made Mr. Peterson eager for a new and prosperous "Eagle" year!

The students and faculty of "Ike" wish to welcome Mr. Sexton once again. This will be a return trip since he previously taught here in 1963. His recent discharge from the United States army was in last May. While in the service, he spent three years in the Intelligence Corps. Education for Mr. Sexton was received at various schools. An AB degree from the University of California at Berkeley, San Francisco State College, UCLA, and the University of Maryland were those places he attended. First impressions are always the most honest. What was the impression of Eisenhower on Mr. Sexton? We are proud to say he was very impressed by the friendliness and helpfulness of everyone! We of Eisenhower hope we can make his first impression extend with him as long as his stay.

Eisenhower High School puts out the hand of greeting to Mrs. Singh. Mrs. Singh will teach this year the courses of English and Latin. She attended Pasadena City College, and received her BA degree there. Working for her MA degree, she attended University of California at Berkeley. Mrs. Singh has stated that she likes teaching senior high school. In that case the Eagles welcome Mrs. Singh to a fine and prosperous year at Eisenhower High.

When asked what was his first impression of Eisenhower, Mr. Stanley Brassfield, a new mathematics teacher, said "That the school administration and faculty are interested in giving the students the best possible complete education." Mr. Brassfield attended various schools in Redlands where he graduated from the University of Redlands. Having attended San Jose State College for graduate work he taught for three years in California and three years in Europe. He previously taught at high schools in Perris, California; Hanford, California; Paris, France, and Mannheim, Germany.

Mr. Timothy Hurley, a new addition to our mathematics department, was born in Andover, Massachusetts and spent the first 16 years of his life there. He joined the army in 1928 as a private. Mr. Hurley spent twenty-eight years in the military service. After retiring from the military service in 1957 he enrolled in Riverside City College where he received his AA degree in 1960. He also graduated from Cal Poly in Pomona, with a BS degree in 1963. Mr. Hurley is now enrolled in La Sierra College where he is working towards his master of science in education. When asked what his first impression of "Ike" was Mr. Hurley replied, "Terrific potential."

The newest addition to the Foreign Language department is Mrs. Eva Lenard, teaching German. Mrs. Lenard received her Bachelor's Degree from Lawrence University, Wisconsin. After teaching German and Latin in Madison, she enrolled at the University of Wisconsin, where she took her MA in June '66. When asked what her first impression of Eisenhower was, she replied with "I am most favorably impressed by the community and particularly the school, its system, organization, and its progressive spirit."

The two new teachers to enter our Social Studies department this year are Mr. Negri and Mr. Perkins.

Born and raised in Redlands, California, Mr. Perkins was an active member and instructor in the Redlands YMCA. He attended the University of Redlands where he was affiliated with the Kappa Sigma Sigma Fraternity. He has recently come from Stockton, California, to teach here at Eisenhower. At Stockton he had been teaching and also coaching. He finds Eisenhower to be a school with a lot of drive which could be headed for a BIG year and BIG things with the help of the student body.

Our other Social Studies teacher is Mr. Negri. We were unable to talk to Mr. Negri, but all the same we warmly welcome him to our "Eagle '67" year.

We welcome all of our other new staff members to a coming "IKE" year! We all hope the students and school year situation please you as long as you all here!

TO BETTER EISENHOWER HIGH SCHOOL this year ten new teachers have been added to our staff.

Eagles Witness First Assembly

Thursday unveiled Eisenhower's first assembly for this year. It was a well conducted assembly that mixed business with pleasure.

The flag salute led off the assembly, with the introduction of the A.S.B. Council following. At the senior assembly Bill McKinney explained about the parking lot sales to the seniors in the first three rows. The measure was taken by the seniors in different ways although most thought that they would park in the street.

A very entertaining skit was put on for each assembly to remind students of the great advantages in having an A.S.B. card.

Our foreign exchange student, Mongkone Rayanaicorn was introduced to the student body. He was greeted with warm applause and surprising respect.

The assembly was brought to a close by the introduction of the "B" cheerleaders, the Pom Pom's, flag twirlers, and varsity cheerleaders.

SUZI WIYNINGER, Steve Birdsall, Di Ann Appleton, Bob Ivy, Jim Gensichen, and Larry Bolding participate in Assembly skit.

GIRLS P.E.: BETTER THAN LAST?

By Beth Hite

The first week in Girls P.E. is Organization Week. The girls are issued locks and lockers, and gym clothes are marked.

Thursday will be the first day to dress, and Friday will start the beginning of a two weeks Physical Fitness test.

This year gym classes will have more advantages than last. The girls will select their own activities, they vote from a list on four activities for the coming four weeks. This will be the first unit after the fitness test.

Tennis rackets and wiffle balls for golf practice are among the new equipment. Shelves made by the Industrial Art class has been put in the equipment room for a better organized Lost and Found.

The inside and outside of the gym has been newly painted, but the teachers have stayed the same: Miss McCullough Miss Moster; Miss Snedecor; Mrs. Probst; and Miss Swensan.

This year is predicted to be better than last, as far as Girls P.E. goes.

LITTLE SISTER PICNIC HELD

Eisenhower steps ahead with the Big sister-Little Sister Picnic held September 13, at 5:00 o'clock on the school squad. It was sponsored by Girl's League for the female section of our new sophomore class.

Refreshments were furnished by the Big Sisters while entertainment was provided by Tom DePaolis, who played several pieces on the accordion. Following Tom DePaolis was two of Eisenhower's "Old Timers," Anne Sutherland and Doug Snell.

Following the two musical groups came leadership. Headed by both Varsity and "B" cheerleaders. Then came routines by Pom-Pon an Flags. Their first performance of the year were greatly accepted.

At the near end prizes were given to twenty of the girls who attended. These people were decided by a drawing.

The end of the day came after many new friendships were formed for the coming "EAGLE '67" year!

SPEECH II GOES ON AIR

Those students interested in radio drama and television should contact Mr. Peskin, the speech teacher in room R-1.

The new speech teacher announced that Speech II will primarily be a broadcasting class if enough are interested.

On special occasions, some programs will be piped into the rooms for class enjoyment.

Mr. Peskin stated that Speech I is not a prerequisite for Speech II. Also, students may take Speech II for a credit class, or participate for enjoyment and no credit after school.

If the Speech II class is a success, it will be a first in any of the area schools.

Those interested, please report to room R-1. Thank you!

Eisenhower Vs SBHS Starts Season

HERE WE HAVE the Eisenhower Drill Team going through their paces. The Drill Team adds something extra at halftimes as they march into well-organized formations.

By Courtland Jenkins

Here we go again; or do we? This is the question Coach Smaha and students of Eisenhower are asking. Time will only tell, for it is much too early to make any predictions at this time.

As most of the students know at Eisenhower we were the Ivy League Champions of the '65 season. Last year it seemed that our power was with the defensive team, more than the offensive team.

I am sure by now you have heard that we've discarded the name "Chinese Bandits," and will go under the new name of the Green Berets, with the new name we changed our helmets from green to white.

This year we have nine lettermen returning, which includes the all-league champs back on the 33-man squad.

For the ones who know little about high school football, there are three squads which consist of Varsity, and the B teams. As the season progresses many of the players will be transferred. This year I'm afraid that there aren't any transfers for report, which always is a big booster to any team.

The returning veterans are Quarterback Bill McKinney, who was all-league both on offensive and defensive; all league halfback was Steve Preston. We're sorry to report the loss of Richard Black who was all-league defensive. Our loss was due to the fact that Richard has a broken arm.

The other lettermen who are returning include fullback, Arnie McCoy; linebacker, Mike Walek; end, Steve Henningsen, offensive guard; and defensive end, Chris Grenfell; guard, Jim McDonard, and guard, Darrell Soderberg.

As you have noticed a lot of the players are playing both defensive and offensive until they have enough experience to be divided into defensive and offensive squads.

This year we open our season with a practice game, it will be at San Bernardino in the Orange Show Stadium, at this game ASB cards will not be honored because of San Bernardino being CBL, but tickets will be sold here for 50 cents each with ASB card, or a dollar at the gate with or without a card. Keep school spirit alive by going to the game.

CHEER LEADERS EFFORTS REWARDING

As we greet the new school year jubilantly, we are immediately informed of the "Green Berets" dedicated practice and Spartanism which they are adhering to in hopes of gaining a new addition to the trophy case. Yet little recognition is given to the six young ladies who, only through continuous austerity and abstinence, have already succeeded in adding to the glorification of Eisenhower.

Through the mid-July morning mist, the cheerleaders were viewed on the Redlands University campus fortifying their bodies and voices by vigorous training and exercise. They ignored not only the enticing sound of the breakfast bell, but also the delectable activities offered in the afternoon. Their cause was admirable; their efforts rewarding. The ribbon department of the school now displays two honorable mentions and a second place received in stiff competition at cheerleading camp.

Fully aware of the efforts of all leadership and sports teams, gym teacher Miss Swenson remarked "We've got the team and the leadership. All we need now is the strong support of the student body."

The ASB spirit was partially demonstrated at the big sister-little sister picnic and was highly commendable. Keep it up!

BOYS P. E. NEW FOR SOPHOMORES

By Rex Zedalis

This is a year of new ideas at Eisenhower, for one thing not only does the football defensive team have a new name, but some boys (namely sophomores) have new P. E. outfits.

These green and gold shirts are partly traditional (green only). The gold is to remind the sophomores of victory in their physical fitness tests. This test is a way to show your physical ability. These tests consist of six activities, softball throw, pull ups, 50 yard dash, 600 yard run, sit ups, and standing broad jump. The maximum amount of points you can receive on each of these tests is 100.

If you notice six angry men handing out color stripes to the seniors, juniors, and sophomores, they will be the same as last year. Tricky Dick King, Dazzling Dauiuso, Victorious Violetee, Krummy Kremer, Snazzy Sentiurer, and last but not least the man who carries all the weight around here, Buffalo herder Smaha.
